

TheChamplainChannel.com

Approval For School's Wind Turbine A Breeze

School Hopes To Save Money With Wind Power

POSTED: 12:39 pm EST January 28, 2004

Plans to put up a wind turbine at the Addison Central School in Addison, Vt., have won approval from state regulators.

School officials hope the turbine would help save as much as $1,500 on the school's yearly energy bill.

The 80-foot tower, wind turbine and measuring equipment is being paid for with a $35,000 federal grant.

The school hopes to break ground soon.

Have a comment about this story? E-mail our newsroom.

Copyright 2004 by TheChamplainChannel.com. All rights reserved. This material may not be published, broadcast, rewritten or redistributed.